Protesters pull down Confederate statue at old Durham County courthouse

We've officially entered full-polarization mode.

This is now getting to the point where there is no more middle.

Durham Confederate Statue Toppled by Mob 8/14/17

WRAL:

A group of protesters in Durham toppled a Confederate monument Monday evening.

The statue is called the Confederate Soldiers Monument and was dedicated in 1924.

The protest began at about 6 p.m. near the old courthouse and a portion of East Main Street was closed as a result.

Several men used a ladder to reach the top of statue, which had been sprayed with cooking spray by authorities to make it more difficult to climb, and it was pulled down with a rope.

Protesters began kicking the statue and chanting after it fell. They then began marching to the police department, blocking a number of downtown streets in the process.

These “protests” are happening across the country.

And I guarantee you, they are going to go to Washington, and they are going to demand that the Washington Monument be torn down. They might even try to pull it down. Because George Washington owned slaves. More importantly, he was a white man who built something.

These people are a force of evil no different than the hordes of Mordor.

They exist only to destroy what great men have built.

They are attempting to tear out the heart of our nation, of our people, of our race.

This is the killshot. There is no more room on the sidelines. If you don't want to see this whole bitch burned down, then you are Alt-Right, whether you like it or not.
